

12 DIE IN FIRE WHICH SWEEP 5 STORY BLOCK

Flames Appear to Burst From Each Floor at Same Moment; Fire Escape Ladder Inoperative by Rust

FAMILY WIPED OUT

Caught on Top Floor of Structure; Daughter Would Have Been Saved Had She Not Returned for Gown

New York, April 27.—Flames that suddenly enveloped a five-story tenement in E. 120th street early today killed 12 persons, six of them children, and injured many others.

Two hours before day broke over New York, Harry Vogel, awake with a sick child, looked through the window and saw flames burst suddenly from every floor of the house before him.

He called patrolman John Mallin, and accompanied the patrolman through the flames to the second floor of the burning building. They discovered bodies down doors and made their way to the first landing of the rickety escape. Above them men and women screamed.

Mallin tried to drop the ladder to the sidewalk. Rusted, it broke at the first drop. A woman, Mrs. Friedman, a former patient, pushed through the flames and tried to get back to her apartment. A hundred women and children were passed down the fire escape to the top of the call not saved.

Family Trapped on Top Floor

Meanwhile on the top floor, the family of David Mandelbaum, painter, were trapped. Mandelbaum's son, Hyman, crawled with his father to the fire escape and they were saved. Mandelbaum tried to go back for his wife and six children, but he was unable to do so. His wife, Sarah, and his children, Alexander, 4; Benjamin, 3; Morris, 12; Evelyn, 12; and Minnie, 18, were left behind.

Hyman, he staggered, heartbroken, down the fire escape to find the broken body of Alexander on the sidewalk.

Yesterday Mandelbaum had made arrangements to move his family to the apartment adjoining that of the Mandelbaums, an entire family perished. Sarah, his wife, 35, daughter, Rachel, 21, and their 18-year-old son, were found dead on the floor near the escape.

North was engaged to be married.
She would have been saved, but she went back to get her wedding dress.
When her body was found a bit of wedding lace was clutched in one hand.

Urges Modern Escapes

Mrs. Isaac Prosser, who lived on the third floor, died in a hospital from burns.

At daybreak the fire was under control. The bodies of the dead lay on the sidewalk. Soon ambulances took them away to the morgue. But the exhausted firemen were unable to get the bodies of the victims out of the burned tenement, a fact appointed a committee to draft resolutions urging the city to draft regulations to provide modern fire escapes and condemn the old, unsafe ones.

The escape on this floor was not dismantled. Two chief officials attached no significance to the fact that a fire, only a block away which cost the lives of 12 persons last October, had been kindled, apparently by a propane gas.

WOMEN DENY ANY CONNECTION WITH "HAMMER MURDER"

Description Sent to Honduras Officials Talks Perfectly With One Prisoner; Hold Man
Also

(By the Associated Press.)
Tegucigalpa, Honduras, April 27.— The two American women, described by the police as Clara Phillips, the "hammer murderer," and Mrs.
Young, who are being held in custody in the upper part of the Tegucigalpa police headquarters on the request of the Honduran authorities, today for the first time received in their cells a number of Latin-American newspapermen.

Both women explained any connection with the killing of Alberto Mendoza in Los Angeles. They said they were residents of New York and of course, knew something regarding the western part of the United States. They also had heard of the killing of the Mendoza girl.

The woman said to be Clara Phillips, 35, declared she was innocent of the charge against her. Mrs. Young said she was a sister of Mrs. Carson.

Married Woman in 1912

After these statements the women said they had nothing further to say with regard to their arrest or the California murder case, and that hereafter no newspapermen would be received by them.

The man named Carson, who accused the women to Tegucigalpa and who likewise is being detained by the authorities, told the newspapermen he was married in 1912 to the woman whom the police say is Clara Phillips. He asserted that he was a representative of various American capitalists seeking investments in Latin-American countries. He added that he was a resident of Virginia and said he left New Orleans for Mexico in January of the present year. He said he had read in the newspapers of the crime committed in California by Clara Phillips, but declared it was ridiculous to think that the murder-ess was his wife.

The description sent by the California authorities of Clara Phillips is said by the local officials to describe perfectly the woman the police are holding.

FRENCH TO SEIZE ALL COKE IN RUHR

Use as Domestic Fuel Prohibited; Both Hotels and Large Manufacturing Plants Close

(By the Associated Press.)
Paris, April 27.—A sweeping order, providing for the confiscation of all cokes in the Ruhr, was issued today by General De Gaulle, head of the occupation forces. All coke by-products are included in the order, which explains that the action is taken because the Germans refuse to fulfill the terms of the treaty of Versailles, providing for delivery of coal and coke to the Allies. There are indications that the available coke supply is diminishing.

In consequence of this order, it was announced this evening, all public bathhouses in France, Belgium, Portugal and other occupied areas of the Rhine will be closed. All hotels and business already have begun shut down and the Germans say it is only a question of time when others along with big manufacturing plants, will also close.

General De Gaulle's order prohibits the use of coke for domestic purposes and fines penalties for infractions at from 100 francs to 100,000 francs with five years imprisonment.

The Germans say they do not intend to comply with the order.

WOMEN STAND SHOULDER TO SHOULDER WITH FIREMEN

New York, April 27.—Women demonstrated against the fire department when a blaze in a cheap apartment house at St. Katherine's sparked a stampede of women. The women, who were in the building when it caught fire, stood shoulder to shoulder with the firemen who were fighting the blaze. The women

REPUBLICANS SUSPEND ALL AGGRESSION

DeValera Proclaims Effort to Bring Peace Between Irregulars and Free State Government Officials

EFFECT DOUBTFUL

Leader Continues Declaration of Willingness to Leave Decision of Questions to Free Will of People

(By the Associated Press.) Dublin, April 27.—A suspension of hostilities by the Irish Republicans against the forces of the Free State government, and an effort to bring peace with the Free State on certain conditions were proclaimed tonight by Eamon deValera, the Republican leader, and his chief of staff, E. P. O'Brien.

DeValera's proclamation sets forth the general political principles of the Republicans and asserts that the ultimate court of appeal for deciding disputed questions is a majority vote of the people of Ireland; that resistance by violence should be excluded; that adequate facilities should be afforded the people for a proper presentation of the issues involved.

The proclamation adds that nobody holding Republican principles should be excluded from parliament and the council of the nation. It says the military forces are servants of the nation and amenable to a freely elected national assembly.

Suspend Aggressive Action.

DeValera expresses the belief that his declarations afford a basis for peace and adds: "We hope this announcement will be met in the spirit in which we make it, and that it will be supported by all who love our country and desire a speedy and just ending to the present national trouble."

"As evidence of my own good will to the army command," he says, "I have an order to suspend aggressive action, to take effect as soon as may be, but not later than noon of Monday."

The effect of this proclamation is still doubtful. DeValera all along has declared his willingness to abide by a decision made on the free will of the people; but he is said to still maintain his original position that the British government must not interfere in Ireland if the people decide in favor of a Republic.

Chief-of-Staff O'Brien in his order for a cessation of offensive operations, tells the Republican troops to remain on the defensive and protect themselves and their munitions. "There is no yielding on this part of the Republicans to the Free State government's demand for the surrender of all arms."

RADIO WAVE BATH WEIGHT REDUCER

Benefits Sufferers from Neuritis, Pneumonia and Rheumatism; Valuable in Heart Disease

New York, April 27.—A radio bath which looks like the hood of a steaming white motor car with tickled trimmings and which its inventor claims will reduce obesity, stimulate the metabolism and benefit sufferers from pneumonia, neuritis and rheumatism, was explained today at the New York Edison Electric show.

One end of the bath is open to admit a sliding cot on which the patient lies while he is bathed in electromagnetic waves.

"The patient at no time comes in contact with a primary current," said Dr. C. Clark, spokesman for doctor Edward S. Hanson, of St. Louis, who developed the machine. It has been tested for more than three years and more than a thousand patients have been treated with satisfactory results.

Treats Heart Trouble.

Among the most important uses of the apparatus, says the inventor, is the treatment of heart trouble. The electromagnetic waves can be turned down to the weakest human heart beat, thus eliminating the danger of overpowering shocks. They can be increased up to the point where the mere introduction of an electric light bath into the apparatus would cause the bath to glow.

Inside the hood is a curtain of electric lights, all the colors of the rainbow, occasionally flashing at the patient as he takes a radio bath. The bath can be taken fully clothed as the electro-magnetic waves go right through clothing.

Discovery that the treatment would be of aid for persons to reduce was made accidentally. An obese woman, treated for neuritis, discovered she lost a pound. Further treatment brought more reductions. Seven persons suffering from no other complaint were treated, with the result that it was found the apparatus was a consistent weight reducer, Mr. Clark said.

RAID HOMES OF MANY RADICALS

Pittsburgh Authorities Nip May Day Demonstration; Much Literature Confiscated

Pittsburgh, April 27.—Squads of city police and federal officers, armed with warrants sworn out by District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, tonight raided the homes and meeting places of alleged members of revolutionary societies, who according to the authorities, had planned a May day demonstration in Allegheny county. The district attorney said the raids would continue until every suspected was in the county jail.

"Radical literature," detailing plans of the proposed celebration, was seized by the authorities, and, as District Attorney Gardner puts it, "the time for a clean-up was opportune."

County detectives said they did not know how many prisoners had been taken, because they are confined in different rooms at the county house.
They added, however, that they were numerous.

One of the first persons brought in was Joe Balistreri, who operates a barber shop. The district attorney said Balistreri, a married man, was charged with the revolutionary literature he was committed to jail on a warrant charging sedition under a state law. The arresting officers reported they found several framed "hunks of radical matter" at Balistreri's home.
Samples were brought in and will be transmitted from the Lithman.

Another prisoner was Fred Merrill, in whose home the officers reported they found a large, red flag.

U. S. TO INSIST UPON RIGHTS OF AMERICANS

Cannot Recognize Action of Turkey to Abrogate Treaty of 1914; Britain, too, Takes Similar Stand

REVISION POSSIBLE

Grew States America Ready to Talk Over Possible Changes, but Cannot Permit One Nation to Cancel Agreement

(By the Associated Press.)
Lausanne, April 27.—The feature of today's session of the Lausanne conference of the Near East was the reading by Joseph P. Grew, head of the American delegation, of a statement indicating that the United States cannot recognize the stability of Turkey's abolition of the capitula-tions in 1914, and that insistence would be made upon the retention of all rights to which American citizens are entitled under the treaties. "I trust," he said, "that the British delegation will take the same position." Sir Horace Rumbold, declaring that it was quite impossible to accept the Turkish claim that the abolition of the capitulations was a "fait accompli," said that the United States had declared its position in 1914, when Turkey declared them abrogated.

Sir Horace pointed out that an acceptance would mean that Turkey could collect customs on taxes levied on foreigners, and that the proceedings of the consular court since 1914 would be brought into question. Mr. Grew said the subject was one of particular interest to the United States and that the American government was firmly of the opinion that the rights assured to American citizens and other foreigners by virtue of the treaties could not lawfully be terminated by an act of one of the parties thereto.

U. S. Willing for Revision.

"My government," Mr. Grew added, "has more than once expressed its willingness to consider a revision of the treaties with Turkey at an appropriate time, but it has never acquiesced in the view that an unilateral declaration of the Turkish government terminates rights under existing treaties."

The treaties agreed to an abrogation, effective when the treaty of Lausanne is signed, and the Turks no longer subject to their exorbitant taxes.

Isaiah Pasha, head of the Turkish delegation, asked the conference to provide for a joint Greek-Turkish commission of control of the Orient railroad in territory occupied by the Greeks. Mr. Venizelos, Greece, proposed that the League of Nations be asked to name a neutral controller.

The economic committee, at its meeting tomorrow, will discuss problems of insurance and may refer to the famous Article 94 of the peace treaty, which deals with the general question of concessions, and, incidentally, provides protection for French railroad concessions with which the Chester grant is said to conflict. Turkey has never accepted this article, which was one of the main causes of the collapse of the first Lausanne conference.

GOOD HITTER SHOULD CULTIVATE PATIENCE

No Ball Player Will Ever Succeed Who Makes Practice of Striking at Bad Balls.

By CARL LUNDGREN.

Baseball Coach, University of Illinois.

As one of the leading authorities on baseball has often said, "No one is a good batter or will ever become one who makes a practice of striking out on bad balls." Patience is the virtue you must cultivate. Wait for the good one, because one good out will do more good than a dozen foul tips or easy grounders. Determination is another necessary factor. If the pitcher works you into a hole, never give up, but keep the idea that you can and will hit the ball. Your degree of self-confidence will often determine the difference between a hit and a strike out.

One great fault of batters is stepping away from the plate. Instead of stepping toward the pitcher, that left foot (in case of a right-handed batter) inclines to step toward third base. He is then an easy victim for every ball that is sent to the outside of the plate. Nothing will ruin your ability more than this.

Bunting is another very important part of a good batter. As in hitting, you must pick out a good ball to bunt. Follow the ball very closely with your eye until it reaches your bat. One way to bunt is to slide your hand up within six or eight inches of the large end of the bat, while holding the bat loosely in your hand. Allow the ball to hit the bat, but do not hit at the ball. Be sure that you get the bat on top of the ball, turn your body a little toward the pitcher and allow the ball to light well in front of your body. The direction of the bunt may be controlled by the position of the small end of the bat. Follow the ball down with your body and arms both. With a little practice you will know how lightly to hold your hand on the large end of the bat.

Another way to bunt is to slide both hands up towards the large end of the bat and follow the above instructions. These are two methods for sacrifice hitting in which you do not attempt to conceal your intentions as long as you do when you are trying to bunt safely and beat it out. The common method is to start the stroke as in hitting and finish by allowing the bat to come over and down, the ball hitting the bat nearer your hands than you intend to when hitting.

The utmost attention should be paid to batting. In fact, every team should spend at least four times the amount of time in batting practice that it does in fielding. Even the best batters have difficulty in hitting a good pitcher. To develop into a better batter requires the utmost concentration of will power, the use of the keenest kind of judgment, and a tremendous amount of batting practice.

Three of the greatest fundamentals to remember as you step to the plate are:

1. Watch the ball.
2. Hit at nothing except good balls.
3. Do not swing too hard.

As a final word about batting, do not wait to strike until the ball is over the plate. Try to time your swing and step so that you will meet the ball in front of the plate.

Why Hudson Owners Buy Hudsons Again and Again

Most Hudson owners remain Hudson owners. They find nothing to tempt them elsewhere. Some have owned five, ten, sixteen successive Hudsons.

They have found each succeeding Hudson a better, smoother, finer car.

Those who drive today's Super-Six call it the greatest Hudson ever built. Its price makes it conspicuous not only among cars of comparable fineness, but even among those that you never classify with Hudson in quality.

AFTERMATH OF ARBOR DAY.

Now that Arbor day is over with one successful observance in the history of the city in the morning and the planting of trees on the lands of the Oneonta Water Works company in the afternoon, it is proper to note the genuine interest which took in the schools and later a field was conducted. The songs, recitations, essays and orations in all the schools were inspiring, and the planting of trees on the school grounds and on upper First street was a concrete instance of doing good not chiefly for today but for posterity and for other years.

But, these things being granted, it is very proper to bear in mind that the duties of Arbor day and of Tree Planting week by no means end with the day's exercises or with the formal observance of tree planting. To plant trees in every respect the right thing to do, and this the nation has come to realize to what extent the welfare of the country has through thoughtless destruction of the natural forest growth been imperiled. But once the trees are in the ground there comes the obligation to protect them in their growth, and not only these trees but the natural forest areas which every year suffer from the firemen. Ten thousand trees set out means perhaps ten and areas which in a given period will be changed to luxuriant forest growth; but a carelessly dropped match might easily burn over a much larger area of natural forest land in a single year; and in fact there is probably not a year during which there is not as large a forest area wiped out within sight of this city. Add to this the fire loss in forests in the entire country of Oregon and Delaware, and one may well be startled by comparison of forest loss with replanting.

Not as above stated, is the duty of the individual relative to reforesting at an end when a given number of trees has been planted. He should see to it that personally he exercises the utmost caution when abroad in field or forest, that no carelessly dropped match, or cigar be left as a potential cause of forest conflagration; and that no roadside or woodland fire be started which later is not beyond question extinguished. This is a thing, moreover, which does not apply merely to actual forest areas. What is the good of tree planting in fields if a match dropped in the dry summer grasses destroy not only that heritage but the young trees which have been set out earlier in the season?

These are things to be considered—not merely to plant but to conserve not only to set trees in new areas but to be watchful that in old ones the forest growth be maintained. The time may come when the government will not look merely after the forest growth on state lands, but, being mindful of general maintenance of woodlands, with a view not merely to maintaining the timber supply but also the regulated flow of water courses, also take over the general custody of all wooded areas, fixing the percentage of forested as compared to cleared lands which must be maintained. Should this come to pass, the indifference of individual owners, cutting for immediate profit, and the carelessness of individuals in the use of fire will be responsible.

NORWICH STRIKE CALLED OFF

Railroad Shipment on O. & W. Road Follow Example of Middletown and Branford Shipment.

Norwich, April 27. — At a largely attended meeting of the Ontario and Western shops craftsmen Wednesday night a vote was taken declaring the strike off. This action was taken after learning that the striking shimen at Middletown, N. Y., and at Mayfield, Pa., had voted to return to work. Many applications for re-employment are reported to have been received at the shops on Thursday. As far as received, the applications were filed and the men who pass satisfactory physical examination, will be received back into the service as soon as vacancies are filled. The working force at the shops is full in practically all the departments, there being 225 men on the pay roll. The strike has been in force since July 1, practically 10 months and not only the men and the company, both of whom have been large losers, but also the more clients, who have suffered losses, will welcome the end of hostilities which now appears to be in sight.

CRUELTY TO CHILDREN?

CHARGE MADE BY FORMER HUSBAND OF MRS. HARRIS CHANDLER.

Ray Comstock, Father of Three Children Now in Care of Mother, Mrs. Harris, Seeks to Recover Them and Compels Action in Supreme Court.

According to a press dispatch sent out from Syracuse yesterday afternoon Ray E. Comstock of Fulton has commenced an action in the supreme court to secure the custody of his three children who are now residing with their mother, Mrs. Harris Chandler on Chester avenue, in this city.

Comstock alleges that the wife, who divorced him three years ago on the grounds of unfaithfulness, is now residing with her third husband here and that she, with her husband, are abusing the children until they fear for their lives and safety.

Referring further to the action brought by Comstock the Syracuse dispatch says:

"Seeking to amend the divorce decree, Comstock will press his charges here before United States District Judge M. Ross under an order signed by Justice Irving R. Devereux and ask that the son and two daughters be restored to him. Comstock has also remarried, according to the petition prepared by Woods & Woods, his counsel, and he asserts that the woman, Mrs. Gladys Comstock, to whom he was united in Maryland, loves the children and yearns for them."

This dispatch did not reach The Star office until late last evening and the Harris family had retired for the night and could not be reached.

Citizens familiar with the Harris family say that the children appear well nourished and well clothed and so far as could be learned last evening no reports have been received by the authorities that the children are not well treated. Mr. Harris is employed in the D. & H. shops and is reported as industrious, sober and a good provider.

Sixty couples were in attendance at the last United Commercial Travelers dance of the season held last evening at the Oneonta Dining academy and all were of the opinion that the affair was one of the most successful ever held by that organization. The Symphonettes furnished music that kept the dancers on their toes every minute.

There have already been made by the Travelers to hold dances every three weeks next season, commencing in October and ending in April. The dances held by the organization have been a great credit to the organization and have been among the most popular of Oneonta's social affairs.

—Hon. Laverne P. Butts quite probably deserves the honors of capturing the finest specimen of a brook trout yet taken this season at least in this section. From the waters of the Otsego creek on Thursday afternoon he landed a beauty, not only in size but in coloring and form. It weighed exactly 12 pounds and 10 ounces when taken from the water. It required 20 minutes of alertness on the part of Mr. Butts before he could conquer this King of the Waters and bring him to shore. The fish was exhibited to numerous friends yesterday and especially to Eugene L. Ward, who had reported hooking one of similar size in about the same location recently.

STUDENT MUSICIANS PLEASE

Annual Concert of High School Boys' Glee Club and Girls' Chorus Most Praiseworthy Affair.

The third annual joint concert of the High School Boys' Glee club and Girls' Chorus held last evening in the High school auditorium was an affair that each member of the large audience will long remember as an occasion of rare pleasure. Under the capable direction of Miss Dorothy Shuffelt, supervisor of music in the public schools, the clubs have developed into a musical organization of real merit and the program they presented last evening was of uniform excellence. The Glee club and the Chorus rendered their numbers independently and as were well sung. The soloists had a popular appeal and were not too difficult for the young voices but still difficult enough to demonstrate the capacity of the singers.

A bass solo was sung in excellent voice by Harold Thayer, accompanied by Stuart Pratt and Mr. Pratt rendered a difficult piano solo in a very capable manner. Frank Walsh was pleasing in a baritone solo and Miss Dorothy Koch, accompanied by Miss Cecil Cook, played a violin solo with praiseworthy technique.

During the course of the entertainment Miss Shuffelt was presented with a handsome bouquet of roses by the participants as a token of their appreciation of her efforts with them.

IN NORTHERN AFRICA

Prof. A. M. Curtis Takes President's Men's Club on Interesting Tour of Far-Off Land—Club Elects Officers.

This year has been one of extensive travel for the members of the Men's club of the First Presbyterian church. Conducted by gentlemen who have recently visited the countries in question, the club has been taken on various expeditions to widely scattered portions of the globe—to China, to Alaska, to Russia and to Egypt. Last evening the club visited northern Africa under the guidance of Prof. Arthur M. Curtis, who with Mrs. Curtis returned but recently from a tour of that region and portions of Europe. Illustrated with numerous post card views thrown upon the screen, the trip proved highly interesting to a goodly number of men and their wives.

Prof. Curtis confined his talk largely to that portion of northern Africa bordering the Mediterranean from Algiers to Tunis. The ship that conveyed him to Africa stopped first at Madeira, a quaint city which Prof. Curtis saw under exceptionally favorable climatic conditions. Thence to Gibraltar—Prudentialized Gibraltar, home of thousands of donkeys. Algiers was the next stop and there the party left the steamer. Algiers Prof. Curtis described as compellingly French with its African aspects largely under the surface. From Algiers the party went by train along the coast, thence south to the city of the Sahara desert, then doubling on its trail and going back to the coast and Tunis.

Africa presented itself first to Prof. Curtis, when he looked out of the car window after a night ride, in a guise little like the popular conception. A light snow covered everything and the air was frosty. The country through which he traveled Prof. Curtis described as being wonderfully beautiful and productive.

Timgad, a city deserted since the days of Roman occupation, was visited. Timgad once housed 60,000 souls and in size and grandeur the ruins far surpass those of famed Pompeii. Near Timgad is Sakna, an Arab village housing the French garrison which guards the pass into the interior. This pass or gorge Prof. Curtis stated was startlingly beautiful. From Sakna the journey was south to Biskra, on the very edge of the Sahara. Biskra is a winter resort of thousands of French and British and is a city with fine hotels and many beautiful mosques and buildings. From Biskra the party traced its steps back to the coastal region and thence to Tunis, a city rich in historical lore situated near the site of ancient Carthage.

The talk proved intensely interesting and gave the men and their wives an excellent idea of the outstanding characteristics of a Mediterranean section but little visited by tourists. Following the talk refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed. Prior to the lecture the annual election of officers of the Men's club was held. Acting in the absence of A. D. Tubey, chairman of the nominating committee, Owen C. Becker announced the following slate of candidates, for which the secretary was instructed to cast one ballot: President, Prof. Leon D. Teggart; vice president, Carl Steers; secretary and treasurer, Carleton K. Lattin; committee chairman, program, Lincoln L. Kellogg; refreshments, K. E. Orniston; reception, Mrs. A. M. Curtis.

Awarded President's Steamer.

The Boy Scout troops of the city have been awarded one of the steamers provided by President Harding to each troop in the country which increased its membership over 25 percent in the drive which ran from February 8 to 15. A 47 percent increase was the record of the Oneonta troops. The drive netted over 100,000 new scouts in the United States.

Learned to Creep, Before We Walked.

But we have forgot all about it. Think that we can get rich quick and don't have any patience. That's the reason that Slippory, Slick & Co. sends us out of five hundred million dollars here in the United States each year. Well, if you won't see how I have unrelentingly and safely helped little fellows to make their small amounts roll up to millions of dollars and get homes and farms for them, without the loss of a dollar, please stop by with your hard-earned money. I give all a fair chance and square deal. Pass the hat and pay bigger taxes for care of the poor champions who won't have any patience. I'm the safe and sure Oneonta Building and Loan association. advt 11.

8,600 TREES PLANTED

Students Work Unitingly Until Field is Reforested.

Arthur Day in Oneonta Featured by First Public Effort to Create a National Forest upon Watershed of Water Company Soon to Be Owned by City—Hundreds of Visitors Admired the Workers—Day One of Many Benefits to Participants.

"Successful in every way," said J. G. Hoyt of the Oneonta Water Works company shortly after 1 o'clock yesterday, when the first of 8,600 trees had been planted on the plot of ground which High and Normal school students were scheduled to reforest as one of the features of the Arbor day observance in the city. Dr. Hahn and Prof. Vanhousen of the High school and Mr. Williamson, who represented the Normal faculty on the ground yesterday, were equally enthusiastic over the outcome of the afternoon's effort. The school officials having not only given their moral support, but responded with their own assistance in the actual work of planting the trees. There remained about 1,000 trees, but the plot which Mr. Hoyt had selected had been covered and he considered the task completed. These trees will be placed today by the force which has been at work several days planting the former trees secured by the Water company.

Following the exercises at the various schools which were held in the morning, some 150 students reported at the post office building at 12:45 o'clock and were taken in motor cars and trucks to the plot on the J. H. Gifford farm midway between the two reservoirs, and on arriving there work was at once commenced.

Pines carrying various colored flags were erected at the far end of the field, and commencing at marking posts at the near end a gang of a half score workers commenced planting a row across the field. This gang was composed of selected workers, who had previously been given some instruction. Others watched the work and each a number of range work at work, each taking a row.

The carried a measuring stick with a nail in either end and exactly six feet apart, and having secured the pole which was to be his guide at the other end, he sighted across and each half foot marked the resting place of a tree. A number of the boys equipped with hammers then proceeded to dig holes of sufficient depth to permit the roots of the seedlings to be covered. The boys were followed by girls with pails of seedlings and a diminutive tree was dropped in each. Other helpers covering the tender roots first with some of the soft earth and then with the soil torn up, which was pressed in place with the toe.

In this manner row after row was planted until Mr. Hoyt announced that the field had been reforested and the task completed. During the progress of the work two reels of movies were taken by the representatives of the Conservation commission present. One presented Mayne Miller addressing the throng telling of the previous work accomplished in the nearby field, and the other was one of the force at work in actual work of reforestation.

Men from the Ferns lunch room on Broad street, at a stand nearby the operations, served "hot dogs," "pop," lollypops, peanuts, and tickets given to the workers provided them with refreshments, while spectators, of whom there were hundreds who visited the scene during the progress of the work, paid a nominal price. True some of the boys secured two tickets, but they deserved them, for the gang as a whole worked like beavers for the three hours the work continued. Some of them had blistered hands, but all added to the color in the cheeks and returned home with a zest for dinner and an appreciation of what reforestation means such as could have been secured in no other manner.

Probably one of the chief benefits resulting from the project was the knowledge secured by the inspection which many made of the nearby field which was reforested in quite a similar manner but by paid workmen of the Water company some ten years ago.

The committee wishes to thank the friends of the city administration, of the chamber, and of the school authorities to all who furnished cars or trucks and to all who assisted in making the project such a success. It was gratifying to see public business men take the time to work with the boys, and there was much of good, wholesome influence in the lessons of the day for all.

On the first day the speakers will be Oliver W. Stewart of Chicago, who is now editor of the National Enquirer, and Rev. Norma Candice Brown, of Bloomington, Ill. She is of the third generation of preachers in the Brown family, and in 1921 she served as chaplain of the Illinois senate, the first woman in the history of the state to fill that position.

Further particulars regarding the meetings will appear at a later date.

DEATH OF MRS. S. S. MATTESON

Native of Morris and for Thirty-Five Years Resident of Oneonta.
—Funeral Monday.

Emma Dunn Matteson, wife of Elias S. Matteson of this city, died at 8 o'clock Friday morning at the family home at 65 Ford avenue. Though not in the best of health for some time, her serious illness had been of only one week's duration.

The funeral services, which will be private, will be held at 1 p. m. on Monday at the family residence. Rev. L. C. Denton of St. James' church, Oneonta, and Rev. E. E. Hutchinson of Zion church, Morris, will officiate, and burial will be in the family plot in the Hillington cemetery at the latter place. Friends will please omit flowers.

Mrs. Matteson was a daughter of the late Willis Edson and Emily Amanda (Hodge) Dunn. She was married September 8, 1885, to Elias S. Matteson, and until their removal to Oneonta about 25 years ago their home had practically always been in Morris. She is survived by her husband, four children, Mrs. Josephine M. Matteson of the town of the Ontario State, Mrs. William J. Matteson of Morris, and Mrs. Lillian Matteson of Morris, and a son, Elias S. Matteson, who is a member of the Western Reserve and Baptist churches of Oneonta, and is a member of the New York State Teachers' association. Her death marks the first break in the family circle in the past 45 years.

The deceased was, by birth, a member of the Scotch-Irish of this county, and was a member of the Zion church at Morris, of which Bishop Tuttle, who died only eleven days ago, was pastor. She was confirmed at Zion church by Bishop Horatio Porter of New York, and had ever since been a consistent member of the Protestant Episcopal church, at first at Morris and, since her removal to Oneonta, at St. James' church of this place. She was a member of the Ladies' Aid of the Women's club of Oneonta, and so long as health permitted was active in all matters pertaining to the welfare of church and community. A devoted wife and mother, a loyal friend and a good neighbor, she lived a life of peace and happiness, and, leaving the home of a good daughter and a loving heart as a precious heritage to the bereaved family and to her many friends.

Mrs. Matteson was a sister of the late Dr. Albert C. Dunn, who was for many years a medical missionary in China, and of Hon. Walter L. Dunn, long a prominent figure in the political life of the county and state.

What's Goin' to Happen?
"What's a good night, mother?" asked Amy. "Oh, don't bother," said the mother. "Wait till you get up." "But I want to know now," insisted Amy. "If you don't tell me," said the mother, "I'll tell you." "Well," said the mother, "I'll tell you that your father was to leave for a long time. I would be a great widow, then." "And would you be a grandmother?" inquired the in-terested Amy.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and have the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

HEAT PROCESS IN PNEUMONIA

Physicians Report Success of New Treatment by Use of High-Frequency Current.

New York.—The use of high-frequency alternating current in pneumonia in its early stages at the United States Marine Hospital, on this island is described in a paper by Dr. Harry Eaton Stewart of this, presented to the American Electro-Therapeutic Association. At the hospital it was found that ten later cases had been treated there successfully and a further discussion of the cases will be made later.

Reports by Dr. C. V. Brewer of the staff of St. Mary's Hospital, Hoboken, deal with ten other cases which have progressed favorably under the treatment, making a total of 20 cases in which 100 per cent of recoveries are claimed, although many of the patients are said to have been in a desperate state when the electrical treatment was applied.

"This is no substitute for ordinary medical treatment for pneumonia," said Doctor Brewer, "but in the use of a kind of super-mustard plaster, supplementing other agencies. Some of the important work in developing the treatment was done by Maj. C. M. Sampson at Fort Mills."

In his report on the first ten cases Doctor Stewart spoke as follows: "These cases are from my consulting service in the United States Marine Hospital No. 21, New York, reported by permission of Col. George B. Young, medical officer in charge. There have been reported heretofore a number of cases of pneumonia treated by diathermy. In most, if not all, of these cases there was lacking the laboratory reports, chemical records, etc., which largely obviated these reports being accepted at their face value. You do not need to be reminded of the extreme caution that must be exercised in accepting any treatment as specific for this disease, which varies so greatly in type and mortality in different seasonal epidemics."

Portable Machine Used.
"Diathermy is a form of conservative heat, generated deep in the tissues between the poles of the d. current type of high-frequency current. The machine used was of the portable type, capable of delivering up to 2,000 milliamperes of current."

"The current was turned on slowly, the rheostat slowly advanced until a maximum of 2,000 milliamperes was reached in about four minutes. This was continued for 20 minutes and slowly cut down in about two minutes."

"There are at least 11 different and distinct techniques in the use of diathermy. The technique used in all of these cases was the through and through bipolar method, with flexible composition metal plates about four by seven inches placed directly over the affected lobes anteriorly and posteriorly. A hot shaving soap lather was applied to the skin and electrodes. The patient lay on the posterior electrode, supported by a pillow. The anterior one was held gently but firmly on the chest wall. The enthusiastic co-operation of the hospital staff aided greatly in carrying out this study."

After reading over the records of the ten cases, Doctor Stewart stated his conclusions as follows:

"The results in these cases are suggestive that diathermy may have an influence in hastening recovery in pneumonia. The evidence is not at all conclusive. In several of the cases the diathermy was not instituted until in favorable cases the temperature might be expected to start downward, but it is the opinion of the medical staff who selected these as test cases that diathermy helped in their recovery."

Remarkable Improvement Noted.
"When we have had many more cases to report on we hope to be able to make a more definite statement, but this much we do know, that in every single case and in almost every single treatment the temporary effect upon the patients was remarkable. Opinions disappeared. The expiratory grunt when present was markedly lessened or stopped entirely. Respirations were less labored and the patient, relieved from two to four hours of very marked relief, in many cases ob- taining sound sleep. Now diathermy is a heat ordered as soon as the dia- sis is made in every case of pneumonia at the Marine hospital."

"It is not too much to assume that in many critical cases this marked relief of symptoms may be the turning point in the disease. Under proper technique, there is no danger of ill effects from two or even three diathermy treatments per day. The proper technique is of greatest importance. The fall of temperature takes place by lysis (gradual absorption) where diathermy is used."

"Pneumonia attacks all ages, and the rugged as well as the weak. The death rate is so high that any method of treatment which will lessen it to any extent would be invaluable. The results of this work are sufficiently encouraging to justify the wider employment of diathermy in this disease."

CASE OF HENRY TO AMERICA

Henry Roe of South Worcester Caught Being a Lame Horse.

Henry Roe of South Worcester was taken before Justice Davison of Worcester a day or two since by Mrs. W. T. Hyde of Concord, charged with cruelty to animals. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $5, which was paid.

Mrs. Hyde while driving in the vicinity of Worcester came across Roe driving up South Hill out of Worcester in the direction of South Worcester. He had a load of coal and grain weighing, according to his own admission, 3,000 pounds. Attached to the wagon was a team of mules, one of which was so lame that each step was painful to the animal according to Mrs. Hyde.

The special officer of the society stopped Roe and required him to un- hitch the lame animal and properly provide for it. He then took him before Justice Davison, as stated. He was permitted to secure a lighter wagon and take three bags of feed home for his live stock, and directed to secure another team with which to draw home the heavy load of coal the following day, which it is reported was done.

The Linn Tractor

The efficiency of the road building Tractor can no longer be measured by its performance on the dirt roads. It must be built to meet the requirements of clearing the roads of snow in the winter. The time is right at hand when all the main lines of travel and many of the side roads must be kept open for winter traffic.

Highway superintendents should give, before purchasing a tractor for their township work, serious consideration of snow removal as well as general road construction. From the fact that the Linn Tractor is an all-year around machine, its operation should be thoroughly investigated before the closing of contracts for a power to be used in road construction.

The above cut shows a section of road which was opened during the past winter and maintained in condition for motor traffic during the entire winter, it being a section of a fifty-six mile stretch which was cleared with a Linn tractor and kept open every day at an approximate cost of $10.00 per mile.

This should be conclusive evidence that our main highways can and will be opened for motor traffic during the winter months providing the townships have a Linn tractor equipped with a snow plow of proper design for this work.

Hobart, April 27.—A large house on the farm of Adelbert Adick, Hoses Brook, was destroyed Wednesday evening by fire. Two families occupied the large structure at the time of the fire.

The loss is partially covered by insurance. Joseph Marsala, a nearby neighbor took Mr. and Mrs. Adick and their seven children in for the night and kind neighbors are endeavoring to fit them up with clothing until arrangements can be made for the family to resume their regular home life.
